

Scene 8

(The parking lot of the 7-Eleven. The night of the party. Early evening. DAPHNE appears and joins CHLOE. DAPHNE holds Big Gulps.)

DAPHNE. What are you doing?

CHLOE.

Waiting for you.

DAPHNE. Who
was that guy?

CHLOE. I don't know.

DAPHNE. He was cute.

CHLOE. If you like that type.

DAPHNE. What? The good-looking type?

CHLOE. He's not that good-looking.

DAPHNE. He's pretty good-looking. And he's got a nice body. Looks like he plays football.

CHLOE. Yeah, whatever. I'm not into it.

DAPHNE. Not into what?

CHLOE. That whole jock thing. Not my thing.
Those guys, they're so arrogant, you know? Like everybody's always telling them how great they are, and they start believing it, and then it's like:
Oh my God, there's not enough room in here for you, me, and your ego.

DAPHNE. You totally like him. I can tell. You totally do.

*(CHLOE takes out a bottle of generic
vodka from her giant purse, and spikes
the Big Gulps as the girls continue to talk.
She does so without missing a beat. It's something she's done many times before.)*

CHLOE. Look, jocks are not my jam.

DAPHNE. Yeah, so

what is your jam?

CHLOE. You know.

DAPHNE. What? Unwashed poets? Skinny indie rockers?

CHLOE. Exactly. That's how I like my men: skinny and unwashed.

DAPHNE. That is so gross.

CHLOE. But it's kinda true.

DAPHNE. You just like guys. Admit it. Indie rocker, defensive line man: at the end of the night, off come the pants, and it's all the same to you.

CHLOE. Wow. What are you saying? Are you saying I'm a slut? You are, aren't you?

DAPHNE. That's kind of a harsh word.

CHLOE. Yeah, it's pretty harsh. I would say so, yeah. Pretty harsh.

DAPHNE. I'm just saying you like guys.

CHLOE.OK.

DAPHNE. I'm saying you like sex. CHLOE. So you are saying I'm a slut.

DAPHNE. It's OK to like sex. Isn't it?

CHLOE. No, it's terrible to like sex. You're supposed to hate sex. Didn't you know? Sex is dirty. Sex is bad.

DAPHNE. You're kidding, right?

CHLOE. Am I!?

DAPHNE. It's OK to like sex, I think. Sex is nice.

CHLOE. Sex is nice? That's like maybe the dumbest thing you've ever said.

DAPHNE. OK, so maybe nice isn't the right word.

CHLOE. It's not the word I'd use.

DAPHNE. But liking sex doesn't make you a slut. Does it?

CHLOE. I don't know. You tell me. You're the smart one. I'm just your slutty friend.